Foreword

Tomorrow's destiny lies with us. The things we do, the thoughts we think, our beliefs in justice and integrity influence America's path—her destiny and the world's.

The children we teach will also affect America. We as teachers have the opportunity, the responsibility to give these children guidance and understanding. We have the chance, the obligation to prepare them for tomorrow.

Dedication

A child needs; a child loves; a child is a fairyland filled with fantasy. He is a tree that grows and blossoms. A child is a laugh, a smile, a tear, a joy in the hearts of those who love him. A child wants to know—he asks—he wonders—he explores—he discovers.

What will he find?

A teacher offers with open hand and heart all that she knows. She offers it to children. She loves children. A teacher needs children and she dedicates her life to them.

To children, we dedicate this book.

Recognition

Miss Katherine Hudson

Miss Hudson, a guiding hand and inspiration to both children and students, influences tomorrow's destiny and is therefore most worthy of recognition.

Miss Hudson attended the Julliard Institute of Musical Art, Bank Street College and Northwestern University.

Before coming to National, she was co-director of the Winnetka Public School nursery school and director of the White Plains Child Care Center in New York and the Greenview Community Church nursery school.

She is active in the Greenview Community Church and the North Shore Mental Health Association. She is also a member of many professional organizations.

For the past two summers, Miss Hudson has supervised workshops in Tennessee. In these workshops, she and principals, supervisors, and other teachers exchanged new ideas about methods and techniques in music for the preschool children.

Miss Hudson concerns herself with college students by being an adviser and taking participants and student teachers in her classroom.

We are very honored and sincerely grateful for Miss Hudson's service. She is truly helping to mold tomorrow's Destiny.

Dear Students,

As you read these words some of you will be working hard to complete the final assignments of the school year. Some will be graduating soon to become active members of the teaching profession, and others will be establishing homes. Many others of you will be looking forward to a summer vacation, a job, summer school, or some other type of activity.

There is always excitement when the National comes off the press, as it is filled with the activities of the year. It brings back memories to many. Before too long the yearbook will be put aside and, no doubt, eventually will work its way to the attic or a bookcase. Occasionally you will get it out to look up the pictures of classmates, and one of these years the 25th class reunion will roll around, and before you come back to the campus you might spend considerable time with this one-time important book.

I hope that not only will the yearbook have special meaning to you but your Alma Mater as well. Our college has been an important part of your life. Some of your best years were spent here. Whether it is tomorrow—25 years from now—yes, even 50 years from now—when you return to the campus I hope you will find the same spirit, the same dedication to a cause, and the same spirit of service existing within these walls. Here you not only received an education giving you basic skills on how to teach children, but you also gained greater insight to yourself as a person, you moved toward becoming an "educated" person as you had your experiences in the liberal arts. We hope that your basic values became more a part of you and that they had greater meaning as you lived with and learned more of your fellow classmates.

A college education often has greater "worth" to us as we get farther away from it. Our alums tell us, over and over again, how grateful they are for what they experienced when they were in college. They also feel that one of our strengths lies in the great concern for each individual whether it be a child in the Children's School, or a senior in the College. May we keep it that way forever, and may we also strive to keep the same "spirit of service" that has been such a vital part of us for the past 78 years. Ours is a great heritage, and we have the privilege to help perpetuate it.

K. Richard Johnson
President

rop a pebble in the water:
in a minute you forget,
And those little waves a-flowing to a great big wave have grown;
You've disturbed a mighty river
just by dropping in a stone.

What do you mean, you want it every night?

Where's my tranquilizer?

Watch it, lady, or I'll hit you with my purse!

Who says you need a piano to practice?

The day after the night before.

Our Faculties?

My grandchild's - nothing—this is mine!

Who says this is Halloween?

The Graduate School

The Graduate School at National College of Education continues to offer opportunity for advanced school preparation to increasing numbers of elementary school teachers. On October 31, 1963, there were 545 formally admitted to programs of study for the M.Ed. degree. In addition 103 applications were pending evaluation, with many of these applicants enrolled in classes during the current semester. This makes an actual graduate student body of approximately 650. Many of these people are teachers on the job and housewives seeking to prepare themselves for re-entry into the teaching profession. The number of full-time graduates rose to twenty this summer.

To meet the needs of the increasing numbers of graduate students requires expansion of the graduate faculty, more evening courses, enlargement of facilities, continued development of the College library, and a full schedule of courses for summer sessions. All of these developments add enrichment to the undergraduate section of the college and tend to heighten the intellectual and professional atmosphere on the campus.

Sophomore Class

Days pass. . .children grow,. . .fall turns into winter,. . .winter into spring, . . .spring into summer. . .and children into adults. And so it is with the Class of 1966 at National. As the seasons change, the sophomores change; with each day they grow a little wiser, for they are actively experiencing and learning.

They have been a busy class all year. As the seasons changed, their projects changed. In early October they presented a gala informal mixer in the gym. Through the late fall they were busy producing an all-school directory. As the year progressed, their learning experiences grew—numerous money-raising projects, a spring picnic, the daisy chain at Commencement. This year was an integral part of the preparation for tomorrow's destiny.

Junior Class

The Juniors work hard in both their studies and student teaching. They have one more year in preparation for tomorrow's destiny.

Led by Linda Fisher, president, and Doctor Kidder, sponsor, the Class of 1965 started the year with many money raising projects including a taffy apple and candy bar sale. With these proceeds the Juniors were able to give the traditional Junior-Senior luncheon. This year the Juniors and Seniors both contributed to the informal picnic dance given in the spring on the campus grounds.

Leadership in the future stems from experiences in the present. College Council, consisting of forty-five members from the graduate school, the four classes, clubs, organizations, and faculty, provides the student with such experiences.

It is the purpose of college council to discuss and act upon problems and ideas that are presented. The various committees, which include the Assembly, the Activities, the Points and Revision, the Citizenship and the All-School Dance Committee work on these problems and use these ideas with faculty cooperation. This united effort provides closer communication between the administration and students.

Kappa Delta Pi

Theta Eta is National's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, the national honor society dedicated to the development and preservation of high professional, intellectual, and personal standards in individual preparation for work in education. In addition, the organization exists to recognize outstanding contributions to education. To this end Theta Eta invites to membership those persons in junior, senior, and graduate classes who manifest high scholastic ability,worthy educational ideals, and fine personal characteristics.

In recognition of exceptional students, Kappa Delta Pi holds two pledging and initiation ceremonies - one each semester. Awards are also presented to the highest ranking freshman and sophomore each year at the spring scholarship assembly.

Ambassadors

Ambassadors, the official hosts and hostesses of National, are called upon each year to be present at the tea for new and prospective students, to give guided tours to visitors, and to answer their questions. Their friendly attitude and smiling faces help National uphold its high reputation.

Throughout this year the Ambassadors promoted the "Campus Smile" in order that the students might become closer to National, closer to each other, and closer to becoming ambassadors of good will.

National

National, your bookful of memories, presents a glimpse of the growth of the four college years. The time and effort spent, the bliss of growth and achievement are captured on its pages. As you look back and remember, while you continue to grow in the future, may it serve as a symbol of the role of your profession in shaping tomorrow's destiny.

Chaff

Chaff, the college newspaper, is the main artery through which flows the communication of the college. It is in Chaff that ideas - often controversial and hopefully stimulating - are presented along with the news events of our world. The students and their individuality are Chaff's main interest - for the students themselves hold the key to tomorrow's destiny. In expressing their thoughts and ideas, Chaff serves them.

Dorm Association

The Dormitory Association, under the leadership of Mrs. Davlin and Mrs. Curtis and president Maria DeBella, is helping the students living at the dormitory to become better citizens of tomorrow. It is the purpose of this organization to instil responsibility and respect for others through various activities. Some of the activities are the New Student Orientation Week, the Big and Little Sister dinner, lectures, Hootnanny, Christmas activities, discussion groups, and mixers. Through these activities the dormitory achieves its purpose and prepares students for tomorrow.

Town Association

Children learn to work and play by themselves. They also learn to be useful members of a group as do college students. The members find that "Ye Old Town" plans many interesting activities: a big-little sister and brother picnic, a theater party, a Christmas dinner, a "final fling", a progressive dinner, a bowling party, and a family dinner. The Town members are led by Marilyn Sievers, president, and Miss Springstun, faculty sponsor.

Choir

The Concert Choir at National will make its contribution to tomorrow's destiny by training the voices and "musical ears" of our future teachers. In return, these teachers will skillfully guide the singing and musical appreciation of their pupils. In order to acquire technique, selections from Bioto's "Prologue in the Heavens" from the Opera Mefistofele and Brahms' Requiem were presented. In addition, concerts were given at the First Baptist Church in Evanston, at Great Lakes Naval Hospital, and at meetings of many other civic and church organizations throughout the area. The choir ended its active year in a joint performance with California's Institute of Teachnology's Boys' Glee Club.

M.E.N.C.

Music Educators National Conference is a national organization which has a membership of 42,275 people. The main purpose of the organization is the advancement of music education.

The student chapter at National is sponsored by Miss Hunter, a prominent member of the Music Department. The student chapter consists of students who would some day like to teach music, students who possess special talents in music, and students who enjoy listening to music.

M.E.N.C. enables students to develop their talents and learn more about music. This permits them to pass on their knowledge to the children they will be teaching. The children, in turn, will be able to learn more about music, and develop a well-balanced musical attitude. The children's minds will grow from the talents and experiences of their teachers.

During the year, M.E.N.C. members attend concerts, operas, plays, and ballets. The members also attend national and state meetings, at which they have an opportunity to become acquainted with some of the prominent music educators. They learn the problems and difficult situations with which these musical educators are faced.

One of the greatest attractions of the club is that its members are bound by a unifying force — their love for music.

Drama Club

Through Drama Club students at National have the opportunity to grow in their self-expressive and creative abilities. At club meetings, the fundamentals of make-up, lighting and staging are demonstrated and the members experiment with impromptu scenes. Then they put to use what they have learned by presenting the children's play and the March play. Drama Club also sponsors the class One Act Plays and helps to plan other dramatic activities and entertainment throughout the year.

A.C.E., under the guidance of its sponsor, Miss Agnes Adams, is one of the many clubs found on our campus. This club differs from the others in that it is the only professional club at National. A.C.E. is a chapter of the Illinois Association for Childhood Education and the International Association for Childhood Education. By being an active member of this organization a student learns more about his chosen profession through interesting and thought-provoking discussions. He also has the opportunity to attend numerous lectures given by prominent speakers.

A.C.E. is primarily interested in giving the student an opportunity to broaden his knowledge of the child from two to twelve. This organization also attempts to contribute to the welfare of children. One of the outstanding service projects A.C.E. participated in was assisting in the care of orphaned children who live at the Cradle. A.C.E. members also gave much of their time to aid Don Dinkmeyer, Ph.D., in his longitudinal study of children. Members of A.C.E. are well on their way to gaining a deeper understanding of the teaching profession and the children they will some day guide.

International Club

Through International Club the students at National have the opportunity to grow in their understanding of the people of all nations. The club, under the sponsorship of Miss Neumann, is made up of the foreign students attending National and interested American students. Understanding and fellowship among all peoples is promoted through slides, movies, speakers on international themes, international suppers, songs and folk dances. Group excursions are an additional activity through which members grow in their knowledge of others.

Human Relations Club

The Human Relations Club has a vital role in influencing tomorrow's destiny through today's teachers. It is the purpose of this club to promote tolerance, understanding, and respect of all people, regardless of their race, nationality, or creed. By building its programs around controversial topics on political, religious, and social issues, it encourages broad and objective thinking. The club realizes the world's need for better inter- and intra- group relations, and tries to fulfill its obligations to both the present and the future through its educational programs.

Peace Corps

The Peace Corps Committee was formed by students interested in the Peace Corps and its activities. The Committee is under the chairmanship of Peter Baker and advisorship of Miss Ethel MacIntyre.

It sponsored its annual "Peace Corps Day" at National on November 4. On this day, a representative from the Peace Corps visited class rooms and talked both formally and informally to students and faculty. This year our visitor was Gerald Mullins, who told of his experiences in the Philippines as an elementary school teacher.

The Committee continued its activities by collecting supplies that were needed by overseas volunteers.

Women's Athletic Club

Athletic Association helps to develop physical alertness, and thereby stimulates the mental receptability of the student. Promoting physical fitness, however, is not the only function of Athletic Association. Through intramural and extramural tournaments the Athletic Association helps the student to accept and appreciate each individual, and to develop a strong sense of school spirit.

Men's Athletic Association

Where one or two are gathered — so ye shall have a Men's Athletic Association. What does this fine organization accomplish? They associate! Yes—they associate with each other, and girls, and footballs, and highballs, and volleyballs, and have a ball while doing it all. They even play against the faculty once in a while — but they do not have any fun doing that because the faculty does not play right. The M.A.A. plays right though—and even left sometimes, but not all the time. Most of the time they just associate.

Come Back Club

The Come Back Club, formed in December, 1962, allows for better communication among those who are returning for graduate or undergraduate work. Their meetings are spent discussing problems that confront them at college or listening to speakers from the teaching profession. The Come Back Club is headed by Mrs. Marjorie Moon, president.

College Council Installation

President Johnson opened the installation assembly by stating the historical significance and the functional importance of College Council. He then introduced the newly elected representatives of each class and of the student organizations. With the assistance of Dean Galvarro, President Johnson then introduced the officers of College Council, who responded with short acceptance speeches. Each officer received the unique symbol of his position and a red carnation.

This installation assembly made us all more fully aware that our leadership roles in college are but a step further in the continuous development of the capable and effective leaders who shall determine tomorrow's destiny.

At the conclusion of this impressive, solemn ceremony, the entire student body, accompanied by Miss Hunter, sang the school song, the "Alma Mater."

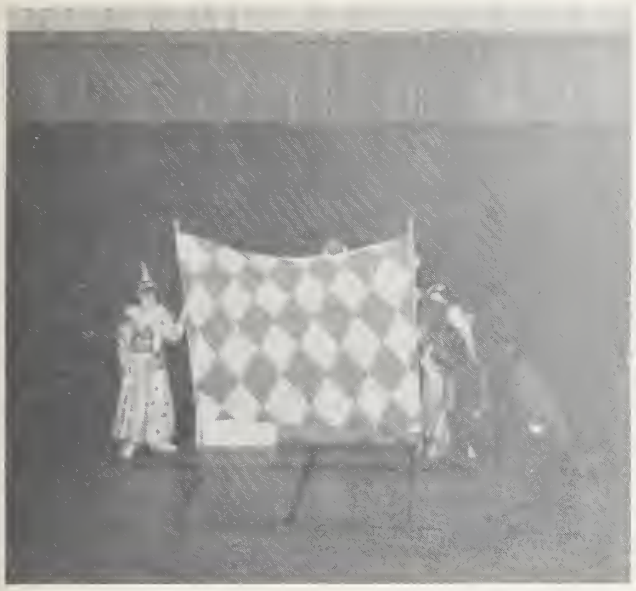
Freshman Orientation

Students coming from both near and far were given opportunities to mix during Freshman Orientation Week. A tea and assembly were given to introduce the new students to to President Johnson and Deans Troyer and Galvarro. A come-as-you-are party was sponsored by the dormitory representatives for the dormitory students. Other activities included a sight-seeing trip of Chicago, a trip to a Loop movie, and an all-school picnic. The week came to a close with the faculty student dinners. All-in-all, the orientation week was a success, for the new students were able to meet each other, the faculty, and the "old" students in delightful ways.

Where oh where are the pea green freshmen!

Club Orientation Week

Club orientation took place in an assembly this year. Each organization put on a short skit to show what its purpose is and to promote interest among the students. This colorful assembly seemed very successful because both the old and the new students learned the function and the general program of each organization.



Children's Play

This year "Pinocchio" was selected to be presented as the traditional children's play. Mrs. Margaret Lindman directed the play, and was ably assisted by two student directors, Geri Madson and Marilyn Moore.

Time and effort were the two main elements which had to be combined by the acting cast in order to make the presentation a good one. Of course the show couldn't have gone on without the stage crews, who worked so diligently to make the play a success.

Two puppets, operated by two members of the cast, made the play unique. The puppets were handled with such flexibility that they almost seemed to come alive.

As future teachers we must learn to project ourselves into the minds of children. Putting on a production such as this, is one of the ways by which this can be achieved.

Thanksgiving Processional

The Thanksgiving assembly began with the traditional procession of students bearing gifts of food and other necessities for the Mary Crane Nursery School. An inspiring and erudite message that put us in the spirit of giving was presented by Rabbi Manfred H. Vogel.

The Christmas Traditions At National

The holiday festivities began with the annual senior-freshman Christmas tree trimming party in the Student Center. The dorm decorating party put the participating students in a gay and festive mood. The next phase, and one in which the total student body took part, was the gift processional. The students brought toys and clothing for the youngsters at the Mary Crane Nursery School and the Abraham Lincoln Centre. The solemn processional was followed by a performance of the college choir combined with the Baha'i Temple a cappella choir in selections from Handel's MESSIAH, under the direction of Mr. Lloyd Cousins. On Friday, December 20th, the senior morning processional at dawn through the dormitory halls and the annual yuletide tale read by Miss Wren Staley climaxed the festivities.

January Graduates

As children grow, they learn much about the world in which they live. They form their opinions and values through a variety of experiences. They learn that life is like a big mountain. At certain plateaus on the mountain they may gain recognition or merit for what they have accomplished.

In much the same way the January graduates of 1964 have reached a plateau in their lives. They have matured; they have met with their combinations of success and failure. At last they have reached an important goal—graduation.

Those students who have received their Bachelor of Education Degrees this January are: Bettie Appleyard, Carol Brown, Elizabeth S. Cottington, Karen R. Feldberg, Lois Fourgis, Joan Frendreis, Barbara Frost, Madelyn Gorodess, Sara E. Grindlay, Joyce Hernacki, Susan Highstone, Marlene Hirshman, Norma Kahn, Ellen Klein, Maureen L. Kovoloff, Wendy Lieb, Merhi D. Lindell, Marilyn Lissner, Pearl R. Lucas, Wendy Mashbitz, Sharon Meadows, Lois N. Michaels, Barbara J. Miller, Gloria P. Nelson, June Olson, Rosemary E. Petrovich, Linda M. Rhines, Vivian Shane, Roberta I. Sherman, Penny S. Siegel, Mary A. Sim, Barbara A. Sparks, Alice Stasiak, Susan B. Straight, Bonita G. Tadelman, Nancy C. Thompson, Darlene M. Travetto, Robert M. Viverit, Mary E. Wylie.

New Students

The increasing number of new students at National each semester, makes us more conscious that the teaching profession is the best determinant of the destiny of ourselves and posterity.

We welcome eighteen new students this semester. The majority of the students are transfers. From our State University, the University of Illinois, came: Karen Joy Abrams, a junior; Karen Joy Brandzel of Lincolnwood, a sophomore who also attended Amundsen Junior College in Chicago; Bonna Ross, a senior; Susan Weisz, an advanced freshman, and Linda Logan, a sophomore who also attended Wright Junior College in Chicago.

New students from other colleges and universities in our state are: Phyllis Giannini, a junior from Rosary College in River Forest, Illinois; Mrs. Pearl Roth, a freshman from Amundsen Junior College in Chicago.

We are always happy to extend greetings to students from colleges, universities, and schools in other parts of our country and the world. These students are: Alice Apikian, a freshman from Baghdad High School in Iraq; Barbara Barnes, a sophomore from Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana; Judith Lindgren, a junior from Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; Carol Nelson from Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin; Ruth Schreiber, a junior from Northland College, Ashland, Wisconsin; Renee Schwartz, a freshman from Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois; and Anne Trinz, a sophomore who attended both Washington and Roosevelt Universities. Other new students are: Shirley Schwartz, Earlene Trick, Mary Bowman, juniors; Ellen Seaborne, Marion May, and Georgia Nicolopulos.

Festival of The Arts

Arts For Creative Living

Life, itself a creation, would be barren and meaningless without the arts. Through this medium of self-expression we find a channel for creative living. We as teachers have the responsibility of developing ourselves and of acquiring a zest for life as we prepare to influence tomorrow's destiny.

The Festival of Arts, a series of programs organized by the humanities department, provides for us an opportunity to enrich our personal tastes and interests. This year the theme for the Festival was "Arts for Creative Living."

Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College, was the keynote speaker for our sixth annual Festival of Arts on February 24. Following this, on March 4, the Folk Dancers of George Williams College, directed by Greta and Paul Dunsing, presented a program. On March 8, the choirs of N.C.E., the Wilmette Methodist Church, and Bahai Temple sang A German Requiem by Johannes Brahms under the baton of Lloyd Cousins. The soloists featured were Michael Cousins and Miriam Mills Cousins. Members from the Chicago Symphony Orchestra accompanied the concert. On March 13 and 14, the Drama Club, under the direction of Dr. Robert Kidder, presented "The World of Carl Sandburg" by Norman Corwin. The Concert Glee Club from California Institute of Technology gave a program of choral numbers on March 16. On March 17, Alvina Krause, lecturer and play director, spoke on "Shakespeare, and the Creative Actor." A graphic arts exhibit of prints was displayed throughout the Festival.

Who's Who

Each year outstanding N. C. E. seniors are recognized for their scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities. The national publication issues a quota for memberships, based on college enrollment. The names of nine students selected by a committee of seniors and faculty, will appear in next summer's publication of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, Pamela Colburn, Maria DeBella, Joyce Gregor, Charlotte Helmbold, Barbara Carren Isaacson, Denise Mary Muccianti, Myra Lynne Reznik, Kathleen Fabri Schultz, Marilyn Virginia Ward. The growth of these students will be watched for many years to come.

Scholarships

Each year awards of recognition for qualified upperclassmen are presented. Excellence in Scholarship, character, and teaching ability are the qualifications needed for high ranking juniors to qualify for four honorary scholarships awarded for the senior year. This year:

The Elizabeth Harrison Scholarship went to:
Barbara Carren Isaacson
Mrs. John N. Crouse Scholarship went to:

Daisy Chain

The traditional procession through the sophomores' daisy chain is the seniors' final step into tomorrow. This symbol of National's spirit and unity was a moving finale as the classes sang farewell songs to each other. The program was climaxed by the tossing of the sophomores' garlands for the seniors to treasure as remembrances of their alma mater.

"Dear Senior Class, we present this song to you with memories fond we will share a lifetime through. As one we proclaim the future will bring new fame; we'll never forget your name, dear Senior Class."

o this never-ending and never-cloying pursuit and study of human nature I summon you, not as something which is your peculiar province, but as something which is your peculiar responsibility because you go forth as teachers. And for your own happiness in a life of completeness, and for the sake of those in whom you may stimulate it, I wish you Godspeed.

When will it all end?

The end is almost near.

So this is college?

I'm finally looking down at something!

Fulfillment Of The Prophecy

Then said a teacher, Speak to us of Teaching.

And he said:

No man can reveal to you aught but that which already lies half asleep in the dawning of your Knowledge.
The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple, among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and his lovingness.
If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind.
The astronomer may speak to you of his understanding of space, but he cannot give you his understanding.
The musician may sing to you of the rhythm which is in all space, but he cannot give you the ear which arrests
the rhythm nor the voice that echoes it.
And he who is versed in the science of numbers can tell of the regions of weight and measure, but he cannot conduct you thither.
For the vision of one man lends not its wings to another man.
And even as each one of you stands alone in God's knowledge, so must each one of you be alone in his knowledge of God and in his understanding of the earth.

"INDUSTRY OF IDEAS"

The Graphic Arts Industry today is one of the ten largest industries in the United States . . . and still "busting its britches!" We expect to see more technical changes in the next ten years than in the past 500.

This means exciting careers for you in this vital business of idea communication . . . where salaries are well above the average pay of industry. Assignments are challenging. Responsibilities interesting. Advancement opportunities unlimited.

Acknowledgements

We are grateful and wish to thank these people for helping with this yearbook:

Mrs. Pauline Galvarro, who gave us her time and invaluable assistance which enabled us to put this yearbook out.

Mr. Joseph Vogel, representative of Artmaster Yearbook Company, who acquainted us with the processes and procedures of putting out a yearbook.

Mr. Solomon Zeloof of Zeloof-Stuart, who gave us so much of his time and personal care in taking and printing our photographs for our yearbook.

The college faculty, especially Miss Macintyre and Miss Staley, for their help, interest and suggestions.

Our wonderful staff, who gave their time to work with the editors on this yearbook.
